

Notice to Employees

As an employee of this company, you are covered by Unemployment Insurance (UI). The UI program is administered by the Alaska Employment Security Division of the Department of Labor and Workforce Development.

The purpose of Unemployment Insurance is to provide partial replacement of wages between jobs. If a business has to reduce wages or hours, or temporarily lay off workers, Unemployment Insurance gives workers financial security and temporary buying power so that they can remain in the community. This, in turn, helps employers keep their trained workforce. Unemployment Insurance payments protect the economy in Alaska's communities until unemployed workers are reemployed. UI helps to reduce the family and community problems caused by layoffs or a lack of jobs.

You and your employer both pay your UI premiums (taxes). You pay about 27% and your employer pays 73%. Generally speaking, if you receive one week of Unemployment Insurance benefits, you receive as much or more than you paid into the program for the year. Your employer may withhold from your earnings the employee portion of the UI tax. Wages in excess of the maximum annual taxable wage set for the calendar year are non-taxable. Current and past years maximum annual taxable wage base and the employee portion of the UI tax rates are posted on the Employment Security Tax web page at: <http://www.labor.alaska.gov/estax/faq/w1.htm>.

As with any insurance, you must meet certain qualifications to be eligible for benefits. You must have earned wages in jobs that are covered by the law, file your claim for Unemployment Insurance, and register for work with the Alaska Employment Service or your union. You must also be ready, willing, and able to accept suitable work. If you quit or are fired from your last job, or if anything is keeping you from accepting full time work, you may not immediately be eligible for benefits.

Unemployment Insurance (UI) services are provided by the internet and telephone.
